

CONTENTS

CHAPTER I 19

The Way to the Boer Country – The Blockade at Delagoa Bay—Lorenzo Marques in war-time—Portuguese tax-raising methods—The way to the Transvaal—Koomatipoort, the Boer threshold—The low-veld or fever country—Old-time battlefields—The Boer capital and its scenes—The city of peace and its inhabitants.

CHAPTER II 45

From Farm to Battlefield – The old-time lions and lion-hunters and the modern types—Lion-hunting expeditions of the Boers—The conference between the hunters and the lions—The great lion-hunt of 1899-1900—Departure to the hunting-grounds.

CHAPTER III 61

Composition of the Army – Burghers, not soldiers — Home-sickness in the laagers — Boys in commandos — The Penkop Regiment — Great-grandfathers in battles — The Takhaar burghers—Boers' unfitness for soldiering—Their uniforms—Comfort in the laagers—Prayers and religious fervour in the army.

CHAPTER IV88

The Army Organisation – The election of officers—Influences which assert themselves—Civil officials the leaders in war—The Krijgsraad and its verdicts—Lack of discipline among the burghers—Generals calling for volunteers to go into battle—Boers' scouting and intelligence departments.

CHAPTER V113

The Boer Military System – The disparity between the forces—A national and natural system of fighting—Every burgher a general—The Boers' mobility—The retreat of the three generals from Cape Colony—Difference in Boer and British equipment—Boer courage exemplified.

CHAPTER VI141

The Boers in Battle – Fighting against forces numerically superior—The battle at Sannaspost—The trek towards the enemy—The scenes along the route—The night trek—Finding the enemy, and the disposition of the forces in the spruit and on the hills—The dawn of day and the preparation for battle—The Commandant-General fires the first shot—The battle in detail—Friend and foe sing "Soldiers of the Queen."

CHAPTER VII173

The Generals of the War – Farmer-generals who were without military experience—A few who studied military matters—Leaders chosen by the Volksraad—Operating in familiar territory—Joubert's part in the campaign—His failure in Natal—His death and its influence—General Cronje, the Lion of Pochefstroom, and his career—General Botha and his work as successor of Joubert—Generals Meyer, De Wet, and De la Rey, with narratives concerning each.

CHAPTER VIII219

The War Presidents—The Boers' real leader in peace and in war—Bismarck's opinion of Kruger—The President's duties in Pretoria—His visits to the laagers and the influence he exerted over the disheartened burghers—His oration over Joubert's body—His opinion of the British, and of those whom he blamed for the war—His departure from Pretoria—President Steyn and his work during the war.

CHAPTER IX247

Foreigners in the War – The soldier of fortune in every war—The fascination which attracts men to fight—The Boers' view of foreigners—The influx of foreigners into the Boer country in search of loot, commissions, fame, and experience—Few foreigners were of great assistance—The oath of allegiance—Number of foreigners in the Boer army—The various legions and their careers.

CHAPTER X 274

Boer Women in the War – Boer women’s glorious heritage—Their part in the political arena before the war—Urged the men to fight for their independence—Assisting their embarrassed government in furnishing supplies to the army—Helping the poor, the wounded, and the prisoners—Sending relatives back to the ranks—Women taking part in battles—Asking the Government for permission to fight.

CHAPTER XI 295

Incidents of the War – Amusing tales told and retold by the burghers—Boy-burghers at Magersfontein capture Highlanders’ rifles—The Takhaar at Colenso, who belonged to “Rhodes’ Uncivilised Boer Regiment”—Photographers in battle—The heliographers at the Tugela amusing themselves—Joubert’s story of the Irishman who wanted to be sent to Pretoria—The value of credentials in warfare as shown by an American burgher’s escapade—The amusing flight after the fall of Bloemfontein.

APPENDIX 313

The Strength of the Boer Army

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

	PAGE
COMMANDANT-GENERAL LOUIS BOTHA (Photograph by R. Steger, Pretoria.)	Frontispiece
GENERAL LUCAS J. MEYER (Photograph by Leo Weinthal, Pretoria.)	42
BATTLEFIELD OF COLENSO, DECEMBER 15, 1899 (Photograph by R. Steger, Pretoria.)	66
BOERS WATCHING THE FIGHT AT DUNDEE (Photograph by Reginald Sheppard, Pretoria.)	71
ELECTING A FIELD-CORNET (Photograph by the Author.)	90
KRIJGSRAAD, NEAR THABA N'CHU (Photograph by the Author.)	104
BOER COMMANDANTS READING MESSAGE FROM BRITISH OFFICERS AFTER THE BATTLE OF DUNDEE (Photograph by Reginald Sheppard.)	114
GENERAL GROBLER (Photograph by the Author.)	125
SPION KOP, WHERE BOERS CHARGED UP THE HILLSIDE (Photograph by Reginald Sheppard.)	135
PLAN OF BATTLEFIELD OF SANNASPOST (Drawn by the Author under supervision of General Christian De Wet.)	142

With the Boer Forces 18

	PAGE
VILLAGE AND MOUNTAIN OF THABA N'CHU (Photograph by the Author.)	145
THE AUTHOR, AND A BASUTO PONY WHICH ASSISTED IN THE FIGHT AT SANNASPOST (Photograph by T.F. Millard, New York.)	154
CALLING FOR VOLUNTEERS TO MAN CAPTURED CANNON AFTER SANNASPOST (Photograph by the Author.)	171
COMMANDANT-GENERAL CHRISTIAN H. DE WET (With Facsimile of his Signature.)	213
GENERAL PETER DE WET (Photograph by the Author.)	215
GENERAL JOHN DE LA REY (Photograph by the Author.)	216
PRESIDENT KRUGER ADDRESSING AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS (Photograph by R. Steger.)	223
BATTLEFIELD OF ELANDSLAAGTE (Photograph by Van Hoepen.)	256
COLONEL JOHN E. BLAKE, OF THE IRISH BRIGADE (Photograph by Leo Weinthal.)	264
MRS. GENERAL LUCAS J. MEYER (Photograph by Leo Weinthal.)	275
MRS. OTTO KRANTZ, A BOER AMAZON (Photograph by R. Steger.)	290
MRS. COMMANDANT-GENERAL LOUIS BOTHA (Photograph by Leo Weinthal, Pretoria.)	295

With the Boer Forces

19

GENERAL HENDRIK SNYMAN

PAGE
302

FIRST BRITISH PRISONERS OF WAR CAPTURED
NEAR DUNDEE

(Photograph by Reginald Sheppard.)

304